Young Voices

Awesome! Brilliant! Amazing! Epic!! These are just some of the words used to describe the Young Voices concert at the O2 on Tuesday, and it really was!

All the children who went from Brooke House were fantastic. They looked out for each other and behaved impeccably, as is their usual way.

Everyone put in lots of energy and enthusiasm with their dance moves and singing. Even the teachers had to take part in a 'Box Off' during the rehearsals! I think I can safely say we all had the resemblance of Muhammad Ali at his finest!

It is a long tiring day for both children and teachers but seeing how much the children enjoy all of the day and the fun they have watching talented artist, such as Randolph Mathews, Connie Talbot and Urban Strides, it makes it all worth it.

The Young Voices concerts are a great way of building confidence in children and inspiring them through music and dance. It also provides some unforgettable memories that will definitely last a life time.

I hope our parents who attended had as much fun watching the performance as we did taking part.

Let's start getting ready for next year!
