

JOSEPH AND THE AMAZING TECHNICOLOR DREAMCOAT

SCHOOL TRIP TO JOSEPH AND HIS AMAZING TECHNICOLOR DREAMCOAT

Many of you will know Coventry quite well but I would be highly surprised if you have ever had a picnic under the fly over in the Swimming Pool car park. Brooke House did but only because it is seemingly the nearest car park to the Belgrave theatre that will allow mini-buses to park. You will be pleased to know that it proved to be a rather nice spot and after a delightful snack, we went in double quick time through the very centre of the City within view of the new Cathedral.

Once inside, the show began and the pupils were riveted as the story of Joseph's fall and rise was enacted in front of them. Flashing lights, boundless energy, wonderful songs - no wonder it has been a favourite of so many people for so long. Of course, the Brooke House pupils were no strangers to this after their own performance of Oliver and some were already eyeing up possible parts. Elvis, or should I say, Pharaoh was a definite favourite as was Joseph, of course. To get to wear a coat like that must be very special - and a real hand full for the coat bearers.

As we left the cinema, it would seem that the only thing to look forward to was a trek back to the car park. However, our spirits were lifted when no less than three members of the public wished it to be made known to the children that they were some of the most courteous, polite and well behaved pupils they had come across. Once you hear things like that, there was a certain feeling of floating back to the vehicles and all seemed to be wearing a rather colourful coat in their imagination. A marvellous end to a magical day.
