The Royal Opera House

Wednesday (9:00am): I was just climbing onto the coach when Millie asked, "Can I sit next to you?" I replied with "yes!"

When we got there it looked wonderful. I made an attempt to take a picture but unfortunately a massive oak tree was in my way. After that I strided through the doors and lined up for my ticket. When I got my ticket we travelled up a staircase to have lunch I had cheese and tomato pasta and lots of yummy chocolates.

The theatre looked fabulous the curtains were velvet red. In the centre of the curtains was a small stage like the Harry Potter one. Suddenly I heard a beautiful song playing and the tabs opened.

I had a perfect sight because I was bang in the middle when the show began I got really hot but the Pigeons was quite good. The Metal was things aren't always as they seem. We went back after that.

This is much better work today. You can see that you have really thought about what you have written.
